Music

Music is a huge part of society today and can really affect how a person lives life. Music can be a hobby (playing instruments, DJing) or be seen as a means of expression (i.e. a person who listens to classical music usually has a relaxed type of personality).

Use the next audio fader to continue.

This is the mockup for the rest of the pages representing the nodes in the audio tour. Later pages will have a miniature sound console that allows for mixing of some audio sources and possibly other controls for manipulating audio such as pitch or speed. The console is the main way of navigating through the website, and each fader will be “unlocked” to allow access to the following page. The small box above it will be used to guide the user through the tour in case they are ever lost or confused. The yellow outlined box will be used to display information about how that particular aspect of audio relates to concepts discussed in class.
